

Applications are invited from interested persons in New South Wales for appointment to the Australian Press Council panel of public members, representing the public. Such members attend about six Council meetings each year.

The Council is concerned with the maintenance of the freedom and the responsibility of the press and to that end adjudicates on complaints against the press, and considers matters affecting its freedom.

The Constitution of the Council provides that public members shall be appointed from persons otherwise unconnected with the press.

Further information may be obtained from the office of the Council:

Suite 10.02, 117 York Street, Sydney 2000.

Telephone: (02) 9261 1930 or (1800) 025712

Fax: (02) 9267 6826

Email: info@presscouncil.org.au or

Internet: <http://www.presscouncil.org.au/>

Applications should be addressed to the Executive Secretary, to reach him by 25 January 2008.